Our activity is driven by the wish to offer an absolute quality service. "Quality" means, first of all, ability in satisfying customer needs. In second place, making quality is understood as the overall philosophy of strategic management of the company.

Research in contemporary technologies, in competences and in specific professionalisms, are everyday tools of our job. The passion in what we do, our energy.

The study of the customer request, the proposals, the contemporaneity of procedures set through continuous openings and additions and full sharing of the final objectives, are fundamental to attainment of the final destination: the customer satisfaction .

The art of building is not the subject of an intelligent speculation, but can only be understood as a vital process, as an expression of man's ability to win and dominate the surrounding environment.

Mies Van Der Rohe

Penta COSTRUZIONI was born from the synergy of operational and organizational potentiality able to offer in compliance with the regulations, the oldest of the services associated with the most modern and up to dates technologies.

Our company has a many years of experience in the construction industry: from the restructuring of civil and industrial buildings to the reclamation and conservative renovations, from the structural works of coordination of activities and assistance to the realization of plant works, from the reorganization of the interior to the finishing works.

Increasing competition on this sector had a decisive influence on the strategies and organizational decisions of the company. We are also able to offer a valuable service consulting and management of all the paperwork, administrative and planning practices, which allows us to offer our customers a complete "keys in hand".

We organize with technicians and highly qualified staff, also, the management of maintenance programs for real estate private entities and/or public: one of the complementary services increasingly demanded.

Worksite safety and in compliance with hygienic regulations in the workplace are handled by technical experts who have attended frequent training and refreshements.

Orders management is handled by a team of Professionals who carefully focus on the study and evaluation of the correct intervention to perform and interacts with the skills needed in the process steps, provides a constant monitoring of the pipeline that allows us to get a double result: get in tune with the expectations of the Works Direction and/or of the client and project management and optimize our operations.

Whether it is civil or industrial restructuring, whether it's architecture or interior finishing works, we believe that the active collaboration and the perfect executive know-how to be the right direction towards our principal objective: the customer satisfaction.

Below we present a technical and informative profile of our company and a list of the most significant works coordinated by us in recent years.
